To be made in Gods image is to be remade in our original form. God provided the means for mankind's rebirth into our authentic being, through relationship with His only begotten Son, Jesus Christ. Jesus makes the difference between existing and having abundant life. That life is to be lived, bearing the image of God. Learn to develop the personal godly characteristics that allow the image of God in you to be seen, as you live this life. Someone else's existence may depend upon you expressing your Divine image.

I'm praying for you,

Be blessed,
PAS

Finding Common Ground and Building Bridges Across Difference

Our country is at a crossroads between democracy and authoritarianism. The best antidotes are an organized engaged citizenry and a deep sense of belonging. America's strength has always come from people of different backgrounds working together. Stereotypes begin to disappear when people sit together, share a meal, volunteer together and listen to each other's stories.

Collective spaces, or 'civic homes' are where people can share culture and find collective power.

We'll be using the Art of Hosting's World Café method - a powerful conversational process to harness the collective wisdom of the room and invite people to step in, participate, and take charge of the challenges they face.

Opening remarks by Bart Bailey

Reflections by Rev. Dr. Gregory Edwards and Rabbi Shoshanah Tornberg followed by facilitation of World Café by Dr. Hasshan Batts.
