

Camp NBC Utah

Salt Lake City, UT | August 6, 2016

Volunteers

Cabela's Outfitters that helped run the camp. We had Outfitters from Cabela's in Lehi, Farmington and Tooele.

Baptist Church volunteers that helped run the camp.

Hundreds of kids and volunteers came to the camp. Here they are eating lunch.

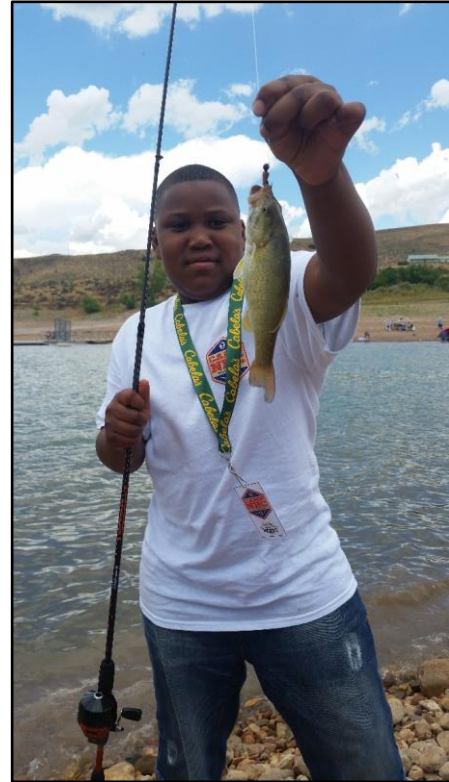

East Canyon State Park where we hosted the camp.

Fishing Station

Fishing Station. The kids caught live fish. This girl caught a wiper.

The kids caught small mouth bass and wipers. This boy caught a bass.

Here is one group of kids fishing the shoreline.

Camping Station

Kids learned how to set up and take down the tents.

The kids did a relay race where they had to stuff all these items in a backpack and pass the backpack to the next kid in line. Jared Wire and Jeremy Wonch worked the relay race.

The kids learned how to start a campfire with flint and steel.

This little girl eventually started her own fire.

Phil Douglas from the Utah Division of Wildlife joined us and gave great demonstrations of different kinds of wildlife that live in Utah.

All the kids knew what a skunk was.

Phil even went into the anatomy of different animals and explained why their skulls have different shapes and why some animals have eyes on the sides of their heads.

The kids were given the ingredients to make their own s'mores.

Some of these kids had never roasted a marshmallow nor eaten a s'more before.

Here the kids learned from an avid camper about how fun camping can be.

The kids learned how to cast a fishing pole while playing the game backyard bass.

The kids had to cast out and try to hook toy fish.

At the fishing station kids had fun getting their faces painted.

The volunteers also enjoyed getting their faces painted.

Archery Station

The kids learned how to shoot bows on the safe archery inflatable range.

They learned how to hold a bow properly and aim.

They then went to the real archery range where they shot real arrows at targets.

Giveaways

Several prizes were given away at the end. And every kid got to take home a fishing pole!
