

“FLUKE”

“Fluke” started as a group of friends who came together to play some Johnny Cash music for an annual “Oscar Night” party, in honor of the hit movie, “Walk the Line”. Our friend and drummer, David Green, took on the nickname of Fluke, as that was the nickname of Johnny Cash’s drummer. When David died unexpectedly in April 2006, the band officially took the name “Fluke” in David’s honor. Since then we have played a variety of music in a variety of venues. Our tastes are eclectic, ranging from bluegrass to gospel to classic and contemporary rock.

“Fluke” members include:

Tim Schmolke, vocals, guitar, bass	Jenny Florence, vocals
Bob Bilyk, vocals, guitar	Ted Malm, vocals, guitar, bass
Chris Lottsfeldt, vocals, guitar, banjo, harmonica
Bill Hamilton, vocals, guitar

If it's great music, it must be a "Fluke".
