

Instructor Bio

Steven M. Crimando, MA, BCETS, CHPP, CTM, is an internationally known consultant and educator specialized in the application of the behavioral sciences in homeland and private security, violence prevention, crisis management, and disaster response. He is the Principal of Behavioral Science Applications, an innovative operational risk management consulting firm based in the New York Metro Area serving a global client base.

Steve is a Certified Threat Manager (CTM), a Board Certified Expert in Traumatic Stress (BCETS), a Diplomate of the National Center for Crisis Management; and the American Academy of Experts in Traumatic Stress. He is a Certified Homeland Protection Professional (CHPP) and member of the Global Society of Homeland and National Security Professionals.

He is a Certified Police Instructor, a member of the Association of Threat Assessment Professionals, and an expert in threat assessment and threat management. He is frequently called upon by law enforcement agencies, the media and the courts to provide insight on workplace, school and community violence prevention and response, including acts of extreme violence such as active shooter incidents.

Steve served as a Disaster Field Operations Supervisor for the FEMA's mental health response to the 9/11 World Trade Center attacks and coordinated onsite psychological operations at New Jersey's Anthrax Screening Center. He helped coordinate psychological support services at such incidents as the 1993 World Trade Center bombing, Hurricanes Floyd, Irene and Sandy, and TWA Flight 800 crash. Steve has assisted at over a dozen major air crashes and has counseled many victims of violence, including those who were targets of the Unabomber, international kidnappings and other acts of terrorism. He serves as a consultant and trainer for the U.S. Department of Homeland Security (DHS)-Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA); U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ)-Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and Office for Victims of Crime (OVC); U.S. Department of Labor (DOL)-Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA); U.S. Health & Human Services (HHS)-Substance Abuse Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA)-Disaster Technical Assistance Center (DTAC); U.S. Public Health Service; National Criminal Justice Training Center; New York Police Department (NYPD)-Counterterrorism Division (CTD), and the United Nations Emergency Preparedness & Support Team.

"Serving All Law Enforcement Chaplains"

Established in 1973, the International Conference of Police Chaplains (ICPC) is a 501(C) 3 organization providing global training to all law enforcement chaplains (volunteer or paid), liaison officers, and agency administrators.

Departments, regardless of size, receive the benefits and information needed to develop and/or enhance their chaplaincy program.

Training provides continuing education units (CEU), as well as equipping attendees to better serve law enforcement officers, families and communities.

Available to all, our quarterly publication, The Journal, provides current articles and other information pertinent to law enforcement chaplaincy.

Member benefits include access to educational material and a network of support, as well as:

Lending Library—available through the Member's Only Section.

Credentialing - Members may substantiate their ongoing education by pursuing the following levels: Basic, Liaison, Senior, Master, Diplomate, and Fellow (see our Credentialing pamphlet for compliance requirements).

For more information about ICPC, such as how to become a member, or receiving a pamphlet outlining Starting a Law Enforcement Chaplaincy, contact:
