Kelly Cohoe, senior pastor

March 15, 2010

I am writing to express my full endorsement of the Prepare-Enrich marriage counseling training and materials. I have been in ministry for over 25 years and have used a variety of materials, including my own, in my efforts to help prepare couples for marriage or help couples after they have already entered into the covenant relationship of marriage. While many of the tools I have utilized have been helpful, I have never encountered material that was as thorough, yet easy to use, as the Prepare-Enrich program.

Initially, we were asked to host one of their training sessions at our church in North Portland. I was not familiar with Prepare-Enrich and was not sure I would even attend for financial reasons. I am grateful that I did participate. Looking back, the training I received and the access I now have to the Prepare-Enrich materials far outweigh the reasonable fee required to attend the training session.

The primary benefit to me as a pastor who counsels couples before and after marriage is the initial inventory the couple takes online. After taking the customized inventory, I am given a 25-page report providing feedback on a host of issues (positive and potentially difficult), with suggested exercises to walk the couple through.

I was deeply impressed with the training day and even more impressed with the material. I encourage you to participate in the Prepare-Enrich training and discover for yourselves a wonderful tool that God has provided for us through the Prepare-Enrich ministry.

Your Brother in Christ,

Kelly Cohoe
