

The Arkansas Youth Development Institute

Free online training!

Self-study available 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

The Arkansas Youth Development Institute (YDI) is designed to provide free, easily accessible, quality training on the core knowledge needed when working with children and youth. The Institute's course work is applicable to youth development professionals working in Out-of-School Time (OST) settings, school-age care providers, K-12 educators, and the parents of school age children and youth.

The courses take approximately one to two hours to complete. Practitioners can easily pick and choose which course to take in any order. Supervisor guides are available for select courses, which include meeting plans, each lasting 45-60 minutes and which supervisors can use to enhance or advance the learning of their staff based upon YDI courses.

All courses are registered with the Professional Development Registry (PDR) – formerly TAPP- and will count towards yearly PDR professional development training hour requirements. Certificates of completion are typically sent within 72 hours of module completion. Visit www.aosn.org for more information and to register.
