THE NEW BUILDING BLOG: (Update on the progress of the New Building/Remodel Project.)

After almost 7 years of working on the building project, 2018 looks like the year for all the planning and designing to become a reality for All Saints Lutheran. The plans are near completion. Colors and materials have been picked. The specifications for the bids are being written. The project is moving forward at a fast pace.

With all that has been completed, there is a lot that will still needs to happen before the projects starts. The following is a timeline of the project that takes us from today, to the start of construction.
