Brothers and sisters in Christ,

On West Beauregard Avenue near the Village Shopping Plaza is a tree which stands 50 feet high if an inch. It's beautiful. What makes it exceptional is that growing up the trunk and spreading throughout the branches is a Trumpet Vine, and during the summer months, the vine is covered with exquisite orange flowers. The tree and its vine are a multi-storied humming bird feeder and a delight to the eyes of passersby. Deacon June and Rick raise vines on their farm in Ballinger. Theirs are a grape vines. The difference between them is fundamental. The tree and vine in town do not share the same source of life. The grape vine and its braches do. Both require care, but the grape vine requires more intensive care than the tree-vine combination. When the grapes are coming into season, ripening and becoming heavy with juice-filled pulp, the aroma of the grapes is overpowering, and the taste and nourishment incomparable.

Jesus is the vine. We are His branches. We may be beautiful like the tree-vine alliance on Beauregard. We may be pleasing to the eye, nice to look at and marvel. But we are planted on West Beauregard to bear fruit ... fruit that will attract others to the Vine by the aroma of our loving Christian lives and witness ... that will develop a hunger and thirst for life in Jesus with all who come in contact with us. And our witness and sharing of the Transforming Love of Jesus will nourish those who are desperate for a taste of the Kingdom of Jesus in the here and now.

Jesus fills us with His resurrection power to carry this life and message to those around us. This Eastertide, I want to especially thank our members who shared their testimonies during worship services, and those who daily share with anyone who will listen how the Transforming Love of Jesus is changing their daily lives.

Jesus is Alive! Alleluia!

WHEN GOD SPEAKS

Planning and packing for a trip to El Paso should be old hat for me by now. I have been traversing back and forth between San Angelo/Mertzon and El Paso for over forty years. Having property and family in both areas made hundreds of trips necessary. Invariably, I leave the task of loading the travel vehicle until the last day. Preparing for the journey to see the consecration of Bishop Mark Zimmerman on February 28, 2014 was no exception in respect to my habit of procrastination. My packing list included clothes, sundry items, road food, and household items for a family in Mexico. I scanned the inside of my Yukon which I drive regularly, checking all essentials for a safe and comfortable trip. My eyes spotted the last bag I had to give the next homeless person I found in San Angelo. That bag had been there many months, so many I had rechecked expiration dates several times on food items. Everything was fresh. Then I heard the Lord say, "Take the bag with you." What? Add one more thing into the diesel truck, my travel vehicle for this trip? His message was clear. Surely He had a plan for this bag. There was plenty of room for one more thing. So I placed the bag inside a box of a similar size, on the floor board of the front passenger seat. There, I told myself, I can reach it when I need to give it away.

Travel was routine, just what I anticipated between my home and I-10. I know exactly where and when to take rest stops, how to anticipate traffic, and was yet again in El Paso in record time. My sister, Gennell, and I spent the next few days in our usual frenzy of shopping, visiting, and eating every taco in sight. We attended the joyful celebration for Bishop Mark with friends from El Paso and San Angelo. The give away bag still sat on the floor of my truck.

Saturday, March 1, my friend Mary and I planned to visit another friend, Joe, who has Parkinson's disease. The first order of business was to refuel for my return trip home. The best price on diesel fuel is at the Walmart with easy access off I-10 on the east side of town. Even with my best intentions, I was already running late. The stress of maneuvering this larger truck into the prescribed pump area was all consuming. My prepaid card took care of the $80.00 purchase. I was nearly finished pumping fuel when I looked up. There he was in front of me on the rock filled median: a disheveled, bearded man in dirty baggy pants and oversized coat. He limped, walking gingerly with a cane carrying a tennis shoe in one hand, one foot in a shoe and the other clearly swollen in a flip flop. I hastened to fill my tank. When I looked up again he was gone. Vanished. Taking care of business, I stood in line for my receipt, then drove around the station looking for him. Nothing. I got out to look behind a barrier housing a trash dumpster, but he was nowhere to be seen. I drove slowly around the block, anxious with anticipation. And there he was, exactly where I had first seen him. I drove up to him as he walked away.

"Mister, do you speak English?" I said as I rolled down my window.

"Yes," he answered.

"Here, I have something for you," I said hastily, shoving the bag his way. Then, realizing the difficulty he had balancing his weight with the bag and his swollen foot, I jumped out of the truck, leaving it running beside me. "It has food, and water, and a bible, and money," I told him. "Jesus loves you, and I do to." "God bless you, lady," he said. God bless me, he said. Indeed, God did bless me.

What a small item: a white cloth bag with the Anglican Church of the Good Shepherd logo on the side, filled with crackers, Vienna sausages, applesauce, bottles of water, plastic utensils, napkins, Kleenex, GermX, Chapstick, bandaids, antibacterial salve, a bible, $10 cash, candies. It became so much more when the Lord directed my path to do His Will, person to person, in an El Paso gas station parking lot. What joy happens when we listen as God speaks. Finally arriving at Mary's house, I said, "Sorry I'm late my friend." Mary laughed. "Jean, everyone knows you are always late!"

Ascension of Our Lord

May 29

Forty days after Easter our Lord Jesus ascended into heaven in view of the disciples. We celebrate this Glorious Feast with the Holy Eucharist on Wednesday evening, May 28th at 6:30 pm. Come! Celebrate Jesus!

Thank You Musicians

The Musicians work week by week to rehearse and prepare for worship services. Holy Week and Eastertide present special demands and challenges. To all the musicians, thank you for your tireless commitment to honoring and praising the Lord and leading us in worship week by week, and especially during Holy Week and Eastertide! Thank you!

Welcome our new nursery worker, Mikayla Moore. She is a senior at Central who will be attending Texas Tech. She has been actively involved in her church and looks forward to working with Sarah in our nursery each Sunday morning. As a reminder, the girls are there at 9 so that the parents can attend one of the adult Sunday school classes.

Woman's Wednesday Bible Study

The Woman's Wednesday Morning Bible Study will finish Beth Moore's study of David at the end of this month so we will not be doing another one until next fall.

Life Walk

Saturday, May 3

Hundreds of walkers will make their annual trek along the banks of the Concho River downtown to raise money for the Pregnancy Help Center of the Concho Valley. There is information in the narthex of the church, and if you would like to solicit sponsors to donate as you walk, or if you would like to sponsor a walker, both are encouraged. For further information, contact Sherri Brown at 450-4781 or rbrown@wcc.net.

Mother's Day

May 11

Motherhood is a gift and blessing from God, and we have all benefited from our mother's life-giving purposes. Mothers may be honored in many ways, and we are commanded to honor our parents by the Lord. How will you honor your mother? Whether she is living on earth or in heaven, make time to express your appreciation for the sacrificial gift every mother makes in birthing and rearing children. A monetary gift in honor of your mom to the Pregnancy Help Center of the Concho Valley would be greatly appreciated and wisely used to aid and assist mothers with unexpected pregnancies, and mom's and grandmothers who are caring for children. The Pregnancy Help Center is a mission partner of the Anglican Church of the Good Shepherd. You can send your tax deductible donation to: Pregnancy Help Center, 2525 Sherwood Way, San Angelo, Texas 76904. For more information on the PHC and their work see www.pregnancyhelpcenter.net or call (325) 944-1515.

Healing Re-Awakening

Fellowship Luncheon

May 18

There will be a potluck lunch on May 18th in honor of high school graduates. Teddye Read will be the hostess for the lunch. Teddye has already talked with Sherri Brown to make sure that Micaela will be there.

Memorial Day

May 26

This day of remembrance began shortly after the War Between the States, and quickly spread throughout the entire reunited nation. On this Day we commemorate and honor the memory of those who have given their lives in defense of liberty. There are several services held at local veteran's burial plots around the county, as well as at the Vietnam Memorial near Mathis Field on Knickerbocker Road. Consult local news services for date and times.
