COACHING TIP

MASTOR COACH ARTHUR TIGNEY

Coaching from the Center

As a coach you must remember it is most of all a co-creative relationship where you the coach are focused on the client's interests, challenges, and goals. This becomes a process of communication where your listening skills must be honed so that powerful problem-solving conversations can take place.

Using the simple coaching model and bringing your natural energy to the conversation becomes the force that sets you aside from the rest! Give your client the best of who you are, not what you think they want, but simply who you are. Coaching from the center is a gift that you have to offer clients. So be authentic and give them 100% of you and you will get the best from them they have to offer!!!!

From The Master Coach

Create A Demand!! Master Coach Arthur Tigney

Marketing has become such buzz word for many people offering services of any kind. In this new era of Life Coaching, marketing is essential for you as a Human Capital Coach to jump start your practice. The catch is your marketing has to set you apart from the many coaches that exist in a flooded market. As a certified ATigney.Solutions Human Capital Coach you already have a heads up on your counterpart, but now it's time for you to take your marketing game to the next level by creating a demand for your brand and style of coaching!

I hear you asking, "create a demand?" Yes! That is exactly what I said, create a demand for what you bring to the table and then fill it! Many opportunities exist all around you, every day you engage in conversations or see things that "your brand of coaching" can resolve. Case and point, I experienced a situation at a store that was full of opportunities for correction and organizational growth. My standard response was to gripe and complain about what could or should be. As a Human Capital Coach, I was reminded that I am armed with the skillful insight to ask questions that could literally create a demand for my services. This insight is simple, and if employed it can jump start your practice.

Begin to consider relationships, places, and/or situations that keep repeating themselves that you as a coach have not offered the opportunity to provoke additional thought for change or growth. From there, begin to develop a strategy that interrupts the process of stagnation by asking this simple question "Is it okay if I coach you for a brief moment?" Or simply introducing yourself and skillset along the benefit of a co-creative relationship. I did this just the other day and picked up a significant lead which will eventually become a client. Those simple steps can provoke and create a demand for you bring to the table the necessary skills needed to move someone to the next level of their journey.

In most cases, people don't realize they need what you have, simply because they don't know what you have. You are a certified professional coach with a toolbox full of tools that can help shift people from where they are to living the life they were created to live. You are your best marketing not what you print, not what you post, but more importantly what you do! Be the solution that creates a demand and closes the gap to the opportunities that exist all around you. Open your eyes, open your mind, and most of all your mouth; it is the difference that sets you apart from everyone else.

Providing Personal & Corporate Solutions

Who are we??

We are living in a time where there is so much potential in our lives and all around us. Unfortunately, many of us have lived our lives with just that "Potential." New Destiny International is a place designed to unlock potential and direct you to a path that leads to authentic destiny and purpose. We are so much more than a church we are a training and dispatching center offering programs, classes, and many other resources that unlock what we call "Uncommon Purpose" within you. Everything you need to BE who you were designed to BE is within YOU. We are skilled to cultivate the rich fertile soil called YOU. Come celebrate the goodness of the Lord with us on Sundays at 10am. Then on Wednesdays at 7pm we study the Word of God to discover more about the empowering promises.

Please visit our website www.ndi.vision for more information. We forward to seeing your and hopefully having an opportunity to serve you on your journey toward DESTINY.

Maxwell Ezonnaebi has written a brilliant book called "7 Points of Evaluation- A Guide to Unlocking the Greatness within". This book is designed to cause you to realistically evaluate where you currently are and why.

Have you ever taken the time to look deep in the mirror and give a true assessment of what you see, not what surrounds you, but what is factually looking back at you! Yes, You! That is what the authors, so extravagantly points out in the book causing motivation at your core. This source of material is a light read, however, it is interactive and clenching. You don't just read it; it draws you to the center of yourself. This book will engulf your mind and soul and cause you to become a part of the words. It will provoke you to ask the hard questions about yourself. Let's just say, often times it is unrecognizable, and nothing is done about an issue. It is that which is blocking the path to making you be more than the hand you have been dealt. The book is a self-help, inspirational, and motivational book that was created to inspire you to Be!
