

Interfaith dialogue is important. It is more important now. In our increasingly diverse religious landscape, coming to a deeper understanding and appreciation of another's faith is critical for the health of our communal life. I am always saddened when members of one religious group feel they can increase the influence of their faith by attacking the beliefs and practices of another. However, we are human and prone to sin. Misconceptions live on for generations even after they have been proven false. Remember, it took nearly 500 years to mend the divisions between Catholics and Protestants.

Amy-Jill Levine, professor of New Testament and Jewish Studies at Vanderbilt Divinity School was speaking recently to a large group of Protestant clergy in Chicago. Her lecture focused on the Jewish context in which Jesus lived. Levine began by stating the obvious: for the last 2000 years, Jews and Christians have borne false witness against each other. The problem of Christians getting Judaism wrong is more acute because Jewish practice and beliefs are component parts of our Bible. Here are three of the top mistakes Levine says that Christians make about Judaism.

First, the view that Jews are neurotic legalists who thought they needed to follow every jot of the Torah (The first 5 books of the Old Testament) to earn God's love. Jesus then arrives and invents grace and replaces the burdensome 613 commandments with the golden rule. WRONG.

Jews, says Levine, do not follow Torah to earn God's love; they follow Torah in response to God's love. The traditions Jews follow: Sabbath observance, dietary regulations, purification rituals — are designed to help Jews resist assimilation and to maintain Jewish identity.

Second, the Christian claim that Jews worship a distant god of wrath and that Jesus invented the Abba-daddy God of love. WRONG. Jews are very clear about this: God is shepherd (Psalm 23), God is king, and father, and comforting mother. Christians did not invent or have an exclusive on the understanding that god is Imminent.

Third, the claim that Judaism is xenophobic and Jesus invented universalism. This is also wrong. Synagogues have always welcomed gentile affiliates. The Jerusalem Temple, the holiest site in Judaism, had a "court of the Gentiles" that welcomed non-Jews. Jews do not proselytize because Judaism does not teach that one needs to be Jewish in order to be in the right relationship with God. Actually, early Christianity's insistence that belief in Jesus is required for salvation was the more exclusive view.

Christians and Jews share so much common history. When Jesus and the Apostles quoted scripture, they were quoting the Old Testament. When Christians developed their own rituals and liturgies, they adapted the practices of the Judaism in which most of the churches earliest members were raised. The Christian message can stand very well on its own without having to make Judaism a negative foil. Thankfully, most Christians no longer believe the vilest anti-Jewish lie: the "Jews" killed Jesus.

Grace and peace,

James Brassard

Worship Notes

March 15th: The most familiar passage of the New Testament is our text: John 3:16-17 "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son." Justin Devine will make an attempt to bring some clarity and originality to this most beloved saying of Jesus.

March 22nd: A well known California preacher wrote a mega bestseller titled "The Purpose Driven Life." Christianity bases its dogma on something different: Jesus' purpose driven death. How does the cross become good news for us? The Apostle Paul admits it is a stumbling block for non-believers. We will look at how Jesus makes the case for the paradox of life through death. The text is John 12:20-33 and I Corinthians 1: 25-31.

Easter Candy!

Children's Ministry is asking for donations of wrapped candies to put in the Easter eggs.

If you would like to donate candy, you may drop it off at the church office before April 1st.

Contact Justin Devine if you have any questions.

One Great Hour of Sharing

I Was Hungry And You Gave Me Food

Matthew 25:35

Across the world, millions of people live on less than $1.25 a day and have to survive on very little to no food. By giving to One Great hour of Sharing (OGHS), you're supporting programs working to provide those in need with food and safe water, relief for those affected by crises and catastrophic events, and the tools necessary to improve their lives.

PHP is able to support projects in five program areas: Direct food relief; Development assistance; Influencing public policy; Lifestyle integrity; Education and interpretation.

Self-Development of People (SDOP)

SDOP participates in the empowerment of economically poor, oppressed, and disadvantaged people seeking to change the structures that perpetuate poverty, oppression, and injustice. In SDOP projects, low-income people determine the problem, organize themselves to do something about their condition, and are the direct beneficiaries of the project.

Your gifts to OGHS mean that you too are present, bringing healing and hope to some of the world's most desperate situations. Never underestimate what a difference you can make. Let us thank God for giving us the opportunity to share our gifts so generously.

CCPC will be joining the efforts of OGHS during

A professional photographer, Molly Brock Humphrey, will be taking the pictures, free of charge for the directory.

If you would like to purchase photos, they will be available online. If you are available to help, let Carrie know.

We will also be updating all contact information for the directory as well as our CCPC member database. Complete the online survey (<http://goo.gl/forms/t3NUH86VDj>) to ensure the information is correct. If you are unable to complete the survey online, join us on March 15 or 29 at the Lenten luncheons where laptops and helpers will be available to help you with the survey. Although we are confident in the security of the survey website, if you are not comfortable filing out the information online, we will have paper forms available when you get your pictures taken and the information will be entered directly into our database. We are hoping for this to be completed by June 1st.

Thank You!

Thank You!

We appreciate the concern and prayers of the congregation following the death of our daughter-in-law, Joy Pals, following emergency surgery. Her passing was very unexpected. We especially appreciated those who ventured out on a snowy, cold Sunday afternoon and a cold, windy Monday morning for her funeral service. We especially appreciate James being available, on short notice, when we needed him.

Calvan and Lois Pals, Charles and Jon

Hello everyone!

I want to let everyone know how much the support of my church family has meant to me! You guys have made a world of difference helping me recover from this. As of now my car is back up and running, have an apartment, and things have started to get better. I'm back to work; however, nursing school has been put on hold for the time being. There is always next year. Now if only I can get it to stop snowing ...

Kyle Tavel

We wanted to thank everyone for the incredible love and caring you showed our family. There are no words to describe what a blessing all of you have been.

The Tavel's

Brothers and Sisters in Christ at CCPC,

Thank you so much for your help with Warm Nights. We really appreciate it! God's Peace & Blessings,
