

November 2022

Toddler Newsletter- Loppnow/Katzbeck/Dever

Hello Toddler families! We are having a lot of fun getting to know each other, and it is fun to see the children get more familiar with the school routine. This month, we are excited to have a few new toddler friends join our classroom. Also this month, there will be no school on Friday, November 4th and Tuesday, November 8th.

The themes for the month of November will focus on colors. The first week of November will be yellow, and the following week we will introduce the color blue. We will do activities, read books, and sing songs that incorporate these colors. The children are encouraged to wear the color of the week to add to the fun! As we approach Thanksgiving, we will spend the third and fourth weeks of November exploring a theme around Thanksgiving, celebration, and foods. We will also have the opportunity to join as a school for a Thanksgiving Chapel Time with Father Jesse. During the final week of November, we will introduce the color red.

Now that we are well into Fall, it is time to send your little ones with coats, hats and mittens. Our stroller walks and playground time can get chilly, and we want our toddlers to be warm and comfortable.

Enjoy the start of this holiday season, and thank you for sharing your children with us!

Your Toddler Team,

Mrs. Laura Loppnow, Mrs. Lynda Katzbeck and Mrs. Helen Dever
