

Gratefully, we have some systems and structures already in place to care for our pastors' wives. Let's maximize these to the fullest extent, especially our Connect Groups:

- While I maintain communication with all pastor's wives (via email, monthly newsletter, cards, Facebook H2H page, text messages, phone calls) I will become more intentional to stay connected, especially with the five presbyter wives.
- The five presbyter wives (Ruby Dean, Katy Hurlburt, Ann Nester, Carletta Sullivan, Hazel Williams) are charged to focus on caring well for the District Overseer/Presbyter wives.
- The District Overseer/Presbyter wives will continue to serve the pastors' wives in their region.
- Each pastor's wife should be mindful to express care and concern for other ministry wives as well as those in her congregation.

Philippians 2:4

King James Bible

Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others.

Contemporary English Version

Care about them as much as you care about yourselves

Good News Translation

And look out for one another's interests, not just for your own.

Intentionality. Your effectiveness in caring well for others will be governed by your intentional efforts. If each respective tier (mentioned above) will care for those 'entrusted into their care' we will be knowledgeable of one another's needs, receive much needed encouragement, remain connected, and informed regarding specific prayer points. Connect (appropriately). Stay the Path...Just Show Up!
