

March is COLORECTAL CANCER Awareness Month

In adults over the age of 50, 1 in 3 are not being screened for colon cancer, mainly due to one reason - fear. Yet as medicine advances, screening and treating the disease has improved, leading to more survivors.

As the second leading cause of cancer deaths, colon cancer is not a subject to ignore. That is why St. Mary Medical Center is offering FREE take-home colorectal cancer screening kits, while supplies last during the month of March.
