

Seniors On The Go

Tour the Tippecanoe Place mansion and have lunch in the restaurant. Built by Clem Studebaker from 1886 - 1889, the Tippecanoe Place mansion has a rich and colorful history. Today the restaurant indulges clientele in grand cuisine and noble wine - all within an atmosphere of unparalleled ambiance at the heart of the South Bend business and catering scene. Lunch includes: Salad, roasted chicken, mashed potatoes, vegetables and hazelnut mousse for dessert.

Then head over to the Oliver Mansion just down the street to tour the 38 room mansion built in 1895 and owned by J.D. Oliver family.
