SMALL GROUPS...

HONORING LEGACIES

Jim Elliot, a former missionary said; ‘he is no fool who gives what he cannot keep to gain that which he cannot lose.’ Leaving a legacy means you give of yourself in such a way that the future generations see your sacrifice more than your accomplishments. They see your spirit more than they see your efforts and they see your love more than they see your works. That is what we celebrate today: wonderful people leaving a legacy by giving sacrificially of themselves.

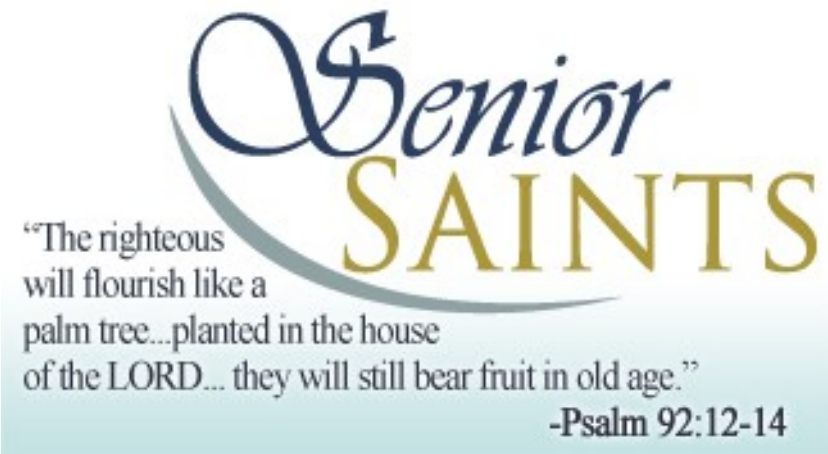

It is good to remember the who dug the well while we drink a glass of water, and it is good to always appreciate the past while continuing to embrace the future. It right to forever connect the accomplishments of the past with the continual efforts for the future. For in embracing the past and the future, the Kingdom of God has a permanent home at Harmony and we are able to achieve great things in the name of Jesus Christ.

We recognize our senior saints today and the contributions they have made to Harmony Baptist Church in the name of Jesus Christ. We acknowledge the fact that we are here today because they were obedient and faithful in support of our church. We appreciate the efforts and hard work they exhibited in sustaining the spirit of church. We love our Senior Saints.

So today is a landmark day at Harmony. It is a day to celebrate the elderly of our congregation: not so much for they have accomplished, but what God has done through them. We celebrate their willingness to serve, and their willingness to lay a path for us to
