

Building a Culture of Generosity

CONTINUE GROWING IN CHRIST

As you continue your personal journey of generosity, you may be tempted to ask yourself, "When do I stop growing in my giving?" The answer, quite simply, is that you don't! Growth in personal generosity is a life-long journey.

If your giving is to be blessed and joyful, it must continue to grow and expand! For each person, that growth will look different. Some will be motivated to increase their monetary gifts on a weekly, monthly, or annual basis, while others may have the challenge of continuing to being generous in the face of layoffs, deaths, or divorce. Others will choose to supplement their monetary support by giving more of their time and/or talents to their congregation.

In every case, once you have experienced the joy of good and generous giving, you will want to keep on growing!

PoP youth enjoying cake on Graduation Sunday '22!

"I like that I'm learning songs that teach me about Jesus and are a lot of fun to sing. I love the friends I've made over the years. Prince of Peace Church is a place where I feel I belong, and the people who work there make me feel very special. They are all so nice and care about me. I've learned that Jesus is a wonderful and good man who has saved all of us, and that GOD is LOVE."

~Ada Larson, 9 years old (3rd grade)