In 1997 Paul became a volunteer Chaplain to the Lawrence Fire Medical service and over the next 23 years added multiple first responder agencies including the Lawrence Police Department and the United States Secret Service. After retiring from ministry, he worked for the Douglas County Sheriff's Office for the next 5 years in the training division as a chaplain, training coordinator, and as their First Responder Assistance Coordinator. Beginning in 2016 he began serving two consecutive terms as the ICPC Kansas Representative.
